

Denise Mina

Alex Morrow series

start with: Still midnight

Paddy Meehan series

start with: Field of blood

Garnet Hill series

start with: Garnet Hill

Gritty. Mina's three separate series feature damaged protagonists, brutality, and murder. For readers who like their mystery to have an edge.

Ian Rankin

Inspector Rebus series

start with: Knots and crosses

Gritty. Rankin's Rebus operates in a hard, bleak world where he wrestles with himself and with the forces of evil around him.

Louise Welsh

start with: The Cutting room

Gritty. An auctioneer seeks truth in the sordid sex clubs of Glasgow.

The Corpse

wore

Plaid

Scottish Mystery Fiction

Scotland has produced many, varied mystery series and stand-alone novels — something for every taste. Cozies and historical novels await readers with classical interests. Gritty police procedurals, sometimes called “Tartan Noir”, offer a harder, more realistic experience.

Whatever your taste, Scotland has something to offer.

All titles can be found under the last name of the author.

M.C. Beaton

Hamish MacBeth series

start with: Death of a gossip

Cozy. MacBeth, a small town bobby, poaches the occasional salmon, keeps the peace, and encounters murder with alarming regularity. For readers who like their mystery classical.

Kaitlyn Dunnett

Liss MacCrimmon series

start with: Kilt dead

Cozy. Liss MacCrimmon, a former professional Scottish dancer, solves mysteries from her family's Scottish Emporium in Maine. Cozy mystery Scots-American style.

Allan Guthrie

start with: Kiss her goodbye

Gritty. Hard boiled, edgy crime fiction from Edinburgh.

Quintin Jardine

Bob Skinner series

start with: Skinner's rules

Gritty. Brutal murder abounds in Jardine's police procedural series.

Paul Johnston

Quint Dalrymple series

start with: The Body politic

Gritty. This futuristic series is set in Edinburgh, 2020.

Alanna Knight

Inspector Faro series

start with: Enter second murderer

Historical. Inspector Faro metes out justice in Victorian Edinburgh.

Stuart MacBride

Logan McRae series

start with: Cold granite

Gritty. This series of intense police procedurals is not for the faint of heart.

Peter May

Enzo Files series

start with: Extraordinary people

Gritty. Scottish hero, French setting. This cerebral series focuses on the science of detection, and on the life of its Scottish expatriate protagonist.

Alexander McCall Smith

Isabel Dalhousie series

start with: The Sunday philosophy club

Cozy. Isabel Dalhousie, editor of a philosophical magazine, cannot resist a call for help from a friend.

Val McDermid

Lindsay Gordon series

start with: Report for murder

Kate Brannigan series

start with: Dead beat

Tony Hill / Carol Jordan series

start with: The Mermaids singing

Gritty. McDermid's realistic series are mostly set in England.

William McIlvanney

Jack Laidlaw series

start with: Laidlaw

Gritty. McIlvanney's series of police procedurals explores the dreary underbelly of Glasgow.

Pat McIntosh

Gil Cunningham series

start with: The Harper's quine

Historical. Adventures in medieval Scotland. For readers who like Ellis Peters' Brother Cadfael.

